The Feldberger Hof is a historic hotel located in the Black Forest, Federal Republic of Germany. With a history of more than 150 years, the hotel first opened as a mountain resort near the summit of Feldberg, the highest mountain in the Black Forest. As time passes, the hotel has been expanded and renovated several times to cater to families and outdoor sports enthusiasts such as skiing and hiking and has continued to expand and evolve into one of Europe's leading hotels for families and athletes.

In 1993, the Banhardt family took over management of the hotel, with emphasis on adapting to the needs of families with children, from providing facilities for young children to various activity programs that meet the needs of families of all genders and ages. The Banhardt family brought the hotel into the Familotel group. Feldberger Hof is now part of the Familotel group catering to family travelers in five countries across Europe.

The hotel also has a policy of supporting and providing educational opportunities for international students who wish to gain work experience in the Federal Republic of Germany. The hotel accepts interns from various countries, such as Vietnam, the Philippines, Indonesia, Brazil, Croatia, Greece, and Thailand.
